Engineering, Power & Safety

IT'S CHEVY TRUCK SOLID.

Tracker is all Chevy Truck, which means there are certain features you know it's going to bring to the table. Like a powerful engine, strong, durable components, and numerous safety and security features. All these things and more mean Tracker is designed to be a tough, safe, dependable truck you can count on. For a complete list of the engineering, power and safety features found in Chevy Tracker, please visit chevy.com.

LADDER-TYPE FRAME

Tracker has a rugged, durable steel ladder-type frame that contributes to the vehicle's structural stiffness. This helps make your ride feel smoother, even on rough roads.

TRACKER TOWING

When you need to tow, Tracker 4-Door models can handle up to 1,500 pounds, while 2-Door models are designed to tow up to 1,000 pounds.*

*Maximum trailer weight ratings are calculated assuming a base vehicle, except for any option(s) necessary to achieve the rating, plus driver. The weight of other optional equipment, passengers and cargo will reduce the maximum trailer weight your vehicle can tow. See your Chevy Truck dealer for additional details.

A NOTE ON CHILD SAFETY: Always use safety belts and proper child restraints, even with air bags. Children are safer when properly secured in a rear seat. Never place a rear-facing infant restraint in the front seat of any vehicle equipped with an active air bag. See the Owner's Manual and child safety seat instructions for more safety information.

POWER FRONT DISC/REAR DRUM BRAKES

Power brakes provide dependable stopping capability on Tracker. Ventilated front disc rotors help keep the brake system cool, especially when you're driving in stop-and-go city traffic or on mountain grades.

POWER RACK-AND-PINION STEERING

Tight turning is no problem in Chevy Tracker, thanks to standard power rack-and-pinion steering.

MACPHERSON STRUTS

MacPherson front struts utilize a coil spring that's separate from the shock absorber. This design helps Tracker handle rugged terrain.

DUAL BODY-ISOLATION SYSTEM

This feature provides two layers of suspension/body ride-cushioning materials to help soften harsh vibrations and quiet the ride.

STAINLESS-STEEL EXHAUST

A stainless-steel exhaust system is designed for years of use. It's just one of the many engineering features that make Tracker a rugged, dependable Chevy Truck.

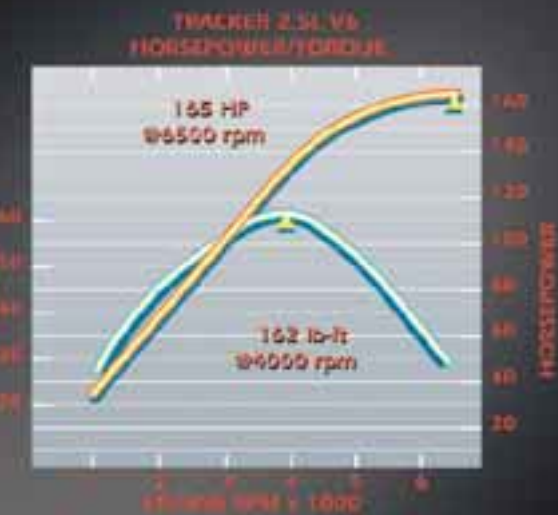

LARGE FUEL TANKS

All Tracker 4-Door models have a 16.9-gallon tank, while Tracker 2-Door Convertible models have a 14.8-gallon tank. NOTE: Fuel tank capacities are approximate.

TRACKER ENGINE FEATURES

An anti-flex bar arches across the engine compartment to tie the front suspension struts together. This helps strengthen the Tracker body structure. An air snorkel intake directs air to the air cleaner to reduce the chance that water will enter the intake system when crossing shallow standing water.

TRACKER POWER

A 24-valve V6 engine that generates 165 horsepower at 6500 rpm and 162 lb.-ft. of peak torque at 4000 rpm is standard on Tracker LT and ZR2 4-Door models and available on Tracker Base 4-Door models. A 16-valve 2.0 Liter four-cylinder engine is standard in Tracker ZR2 2-Door Convertible and Base models.

HALO HEAD RESTRAINTS

Halo head restraints, along with elevated seating, let everyone enjoy excellent visibility while traveling in a Chevy Tracker. Now everyone has a good view of where you're going and where you've been.

SAFETY-CAGE CONSTRUCTION

A protective cage has been formed around Tracker's passenger compartment and is designed to help maintain passenger space in the event of a collision.

SIDE-DOOR BEAMS

Located inside Tracker's doors are side-door beams designed to help reduce intrusion into the passenger compartment in the event of a shallow-angle side impact.
